FORD IS CONFIDENT WAR WILL BE OVER BY END OF WINTER

STEAMSHIP OSCAR II BEARING PEACE PARTY, MEETS CORDIAL WELCOME AT CHRISTIANA, IN WHICH CITY THREE-DAY STOP WILL BE MADE.

GO TO STOCKHOLM NEXT

Guests on Board Ship Adopt Resolutions Favoring European Peace, but Refuse to Take Stand Against the Preparedness Program of President Wilson.

By The Associated Press.
Christiania, Norway, via London, Dec. 19.—"Every nation in the world will soon look upon the American peace pilgrims as taking the initiative in stopping history's worst war. The landing of the peace expedition in Europe will be recorded as one of the most benevolent things the American republic ever did," said Henry Ford today to the Associated Press representative on stepping ashore on Norwegian soil.

The steamship Oscar II, carrying the Ford peace expedition, arrived on Saturday after a fourteen days' voyage from New York. The delegates expressed much displeasure because the vessel was delayed three days by the British authorities at Kirkwall, Scotland.

Mr. Ford said he was confident the expedition would result in getting the men out of the trenches before the winter was over. He declared he had information from official sources that his peace plan was looked upon approvingly. He added that his motive in coming to Europe was to develop an understanding throughout the world by the time peace sessions were begun at The Hague, where William Jennings Bryan, ex-secretary of state, was expected to join the peace party.

Mr. Ford explained the presence of the American party in Norway was merely intended to convey the American wish of American peace. He expects to gather a Norwegian delegation, and then, in about three days, proceed to Stockholm, Sweden. He said the party would grow as it traveled through neutral countries and that this would convince the belligerents that the rest of the world demanded peace immediately. By the time Copenhagen was visited and The Hague reached, probably two weeks hence, Mr. Ford said, the peace movement would have a definite program.

The members of the Ford party landed at 8 o'clock this morning and went to various hotels. The weather is fine, so the travelers will have a good chance to see Norwegian winter life.

After holding meetings while crossing the Atlantic and disagreeing over the question of the American preparedness policy, the 150 peace advocates on arriving were anxious to learn what attitude would be adopted toward them by Europe.

Receptions by Christiania preachers and university professors and an unofficial call made by Albert G. Schmedeman, American minister in Norway, attended the first day of the members of the peace expedition in Europe. Formal meetings will begin Monday.

Christiania newspapers publish long accounts regarding the Ford expedition, accompanying the peace pilgrims with cartoons from foreign newspapers.

Just before the Oscar II reached Christiania, the Ford guests held a public meeting aboard the ship. Samuel McClure of New York said that

THE EMPTY STOCKING—A CHRISTMAS MORNING TRAGEDY

Remember, Mr. Business Man, when you were a kid and used to hang up your stocking on Christmas eve? What would have been your feelings if you had found it empty in the morning? Yet there are numerous children in Waco who will find empty stockings unless some busy man forgets his business long enough to help bring Santa Claus.

NEW ANCONA NOTE STARTED TO VIENNA

DELIVERY IN AUSTRIAN CAPITAL EXPECTED BY WEDNESDAY NIGHT AT LATEST.

Secretary Lansing Refuses to Discuss the Matter—Same Demands Are Made.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, Dec. 19.—The new American note to Austria-Hungary regarding the sinking of the Italian liner Ancona is understood to have been cabled tonight to Ambassador Penfield for presentation to the Vienna foreign office.

Secretary Lansing and other officials of the state department declined to divulge any information concerning the communication. From other reliable sources, however, came a strong intimation that the final draft of the note had been completed and had been put in code and started on its way over the cables.

A veil of secrecy has surrounded the communication ever since a preliminary house messenger carried a preliminary draft from President Wilson to Secretary Lansing last night. However, it is known that the secretary spent considerable time last night and today at work developing the ideas the president had outlined. As completed, the note is believed to have been considerably more lengthy than at first.

Unless there are unforeseen developments the note should be delivered in Vienna by Wednesday night. It will be made public when Secretary Lansing is advised that it has reached the Austro-Hungarian foreign office. A prompt reply is requested and officials are of the opinion that one will come within ten days.

Certain portions of the text of the note were said tonight to be nearly identical with portions of the first. The demands of the United States, which are reiterated for disavowal, punishment of the submarine commander and reparations by the payment of indemnity for the Americans killed and injured.

SIR JOHN FRENCH BIDS SAD FAREWELL TO MEN AT FRONT

By The Associated Press.

London, Dec. 19.—Field Marshal Sir John French issued the following order of the day yesterday before leaving the army on the western front:

"In relinquishing command of the British army in France, I wish to express to the officers, the non-commissioned officers and men, with whom I have been so closely associated during the last sixteen months, my heartfelt sorrow in parting with them before the campaign in which we have been so long engaged together has been brought to a victorious conclusion.

"I have, however, the firmest conviction that such a glorious ending to their splendid and heroic efforts is not far distant, and I shall watch their progress toward this final goal with intense interest, but in the most confident hope. The success so far attained has been due to the indomitable spirit and dogged tenacity which knows no defeat and the heroic courage so abundantly displayed by the rank and file of the splendid army, which it will ever remain the pride and glory of my life to have commanded during over sixteen months of incessant fighting.

"The regulars and the new army have ever shown these magnificent qualities in equal degree. From my heart I thank them all.

"At this sad moment of parting my heart goes out to those who have received lifelong injury from wounds, and I think with sorrow of that great and glorious host of my beloved comrades who have made the greatest sacrifices of all by laying down their lives for their country.

"In saying good-bye to the British army in Europe, I ask them once again to accept this expression of my deep gratitude and heartfelt devotion toward them and my earnest good wishes for a glorious future, which I feel to be assured.

(Signed) "J. D. P. FRENCH, Field Marshal Commanding in Chief British Army in France."

GERMAN ATTACK AT YPRES REPULSED

CAMPAIN IN BALKANS IS AT STANDSTILL WITH BULGARS AT GREEK BORDER.

Lord Derby's Recruits Have Begun Drilling in Various English Cities.

By The Associated Press.

The possible prelude of a strong German offensive movement in the western front, where the Germans are reported to have received large reinforcements, occurred early Sunday morning against the British line to the northeast of Ypres. To the accompaniment of a heavy bombardment the Germans directed efforts against the British, who in conjunction with the French batteries turned their guns on the German trenches engaged in the gas operations.

The British official report says that most of the German infantry were repulsed, and the gas operations were abandoned. The British line was held, and the German attacks were driven back before reaching the British line.

On the other war fronts there has been little change of importance. The campaign in the Balkans, where the Bulgarians are virtually at a standstill, and the Greek frontier, where the forces crossed to Saloniki.

The line snowed out of the line, and the operations are hampered. The British line is still held, and the German attacks are repulsed. The British line is still held, and the German attacks are repulsed.

There is much discussion in Great Britain of a reported Turkish-German attempt upon the Suez canal. Messages received from neutral countries professing to have German field information, describe the German field

TWO LIVES CLAIMED WHEN HURLING CAR JUMPS OVER BRIDGE

FAY CLANTON AND GEORGE B. SMITH, WACO YOUNG MEN, INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN AUTO SHOOT'S TWENTY FEET INTO RAVINE.

TRAGEDY IN CAMERON PARK

George Nettles, Driving High Power Roadster, Escapes With Painful Injuries—Turns Too Sharply at Foot of Steep Hill—Clanton Funeral Today. Ship Smith's Body to Arkansas.

Fast speed, a long incline, a high bridge and a powerful roadster proved too much of a combination for George Nettles, driving two friends for a joy spin in Cameron park yesterday at 3:10 p. m., and as a result, prominent young men of Waco, were instantly killed and Nettles was seriously injured but will recover. After a Trojan attempt to right his car after getting at the base of the long but sharp hill leading from the Country club over the rustic bridge into the heart of the park, the momentum of the big eight-cylinder roadster was too much for the driver's strength and it shot through two heavy balustrades for a sheer twenty feet to the bottom of the ravine below. A speeding car in front of the Nettles machine seemed to cause the first swerve before reaching the bridge and the speed and sliding made the situation unmanageable.

Hurling from the edge of the bridge, the car seemed to nose its radiator into the foot-covered bank and then fall bottom upwards, pinning the three occupants underneath. The heavy machine had to be turned completely over in order to extricate the three bodies. Smith's head was crushed by the car as it hit the bank, and Clanton's neck was broken by the crash. Nettles was in a way protected by the two bodies and escaped with a deep bruise on his forehead. He is in the Provident sanitarium.

The big car, which was a gift to Nettles from his mother, was practically a complete wreck and was turned over onto its side. Hundreds of visitors crowded to the scene after the news of the accident spread over the city. Sunday pleasure motoring flocked to the spot all during the afternoon.

Park Employee Hears Crash.

Two employees of the park were the first to the scene of the accident. One of the men was driving a sprinkler at the top of the hill and hearing the crash after two cars had whizzed by, ran down to the bridge. He could do nothing but kick open one of the doors of the car, which gave fresh air to Nettles in the almost air-tight compartment which the bank had some reinforcements from the Casino, was able to turn the car over and release Nettles and extricate the two bodies.

McNamara said the motor of the overturned car was still running when he got to the machine. The casings of the machine showed that the driver had made a heroic attempt to prevent the accident by using the emergency brake. Heavy wheel tracks in the hard gutter of the driveway and the burned casing rubbed into the bridge timbers told their own tale of the accident.

In accounting for the swerve from the right railings, B. C. Nettles, well-known automobile dealer of Waco and brother to the driver, said that George had been used to an older piece, and with considerable play in the steering gear, and that he probably turned the steering wheel too far unconsciously under the stress of the situation.

Clanton Funeral Today.

The funeral of Fay Clanton will be held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Clanton, 1009 South Seventh street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The body of George Smith will be shipped to Wilmer, Ark., for burial, and the body will arrive this afternoon to accompany the body.

Clanton was a young Waco boy, of a prominent family and one of the favorites in the younger set. He was 22 years old. After receiving his high school education in the city schools, young Clanton began working for the Rotan Candy factory, of which his father is manager. He was a salesman for the company and a member of the Waco Traveling Men's association.

Smith was local manager of the Oriental Oil company station and had many friends here in the city. He was considered to be a young man with a promising future before him in connection with his company.

Rev. John A. Morris, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist church, Rev. J. A. Whitehurst, presiding elder of this district, will conduct the funeral services at the Clanton residence this afternoon. Interment will follow in the Oakwood cemetery.

The active pall bearers are: Frank Wood, Charlie Ertson, T. B. Boyd, Edwind Drake, Jr., Bob Montgomery, Leonard Stone; honorary: H. H. Shear, M. M. Catton, J. E. Ivey, Chas. B. Ivey, J. S. McClintock, C. W. Has, Will St. Clair, J. W. Barnett, W. N. Morand.

It is estimated that more than a thousand visitors viewed the two bodies in the L. C. Puckett undertaking parlors yesterday afternoon.

ITALY HAS TWO MILLION MEN AND RAISING A MILLION MORE

Great Effort Being Made to Recover Lost Provinces of Triest and Trentino from Austria. All of Fighting on Austrian Territory, Although Slow Progress Has Been Made on Account of Mountainous Character of Country.

Rome, Nov. 23.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Italy now has 2,000,000 men engaged in the war and is preparing to add another 1,000,000. About 1,000,000 men are on the fighting line, stretched along the mountains from Trentino in the west to the Austrian stronghold of Gorizia in the east. Another 1,000,000 are in reserve, for emergencies and to fill gaps in the fighting line as needed, or for operations in the Balkans. The third 1,000,000 are represented in being assembled during the coming months as the scope of offensive and defensive military operations may become enlarged.

The military operations and what Italy has accomplished are best understood by taking a map of Italy showing the northern frontier. The Alps sweep in a great semi-circle from the French frontier on the Mediterranean to the Austrian frontier on the Adriatic. This is a natural bulwark or boundary of Italy, but in the southward, first in the Trentino region in the west and then in the Triest region of the upper Adriatic. Thus the natural boundary is broken at two vital points and Austria has firmly established her political control at both points. Her control of Trentino dates from the time of Napoleon and of the Triest region from the war of 1866.

The first object, therefore, of Italy's campaign is to get back the two provinces thus regaining former Italian territory and re-establishing the great mountain range as the strategic defense against the nation of the north. This main objective has necessitated the campaign into two parts, one in the west, with Trent as the center and the other in the east, with Trieste as the chief objective.

Between 100,000 and 200,000 men are engaged in the western operations directed toward Triest. The Trent and Triest campaigns are really separate, but both are under supreme direction of General Cadorna, commander-in-chief.

The main drive of the Italians has been in the eastern section toward Trieste, the great Austrian port on the Adriatic, lying just across from Venice, hardly more than a day's march from the Italian frontier. And yet the war has been going on for six months since May 23 and the Italian army is now here near Triest. The military situation is not so simple as it seems. Leaders say Triest is not yet taken, but taken as it is held because of the vast natural defenses. The Italians decided that it was a military necessity, first to control all the approaches around mountain defenses, sweeping around the western front in reality has been the campaign of the last six months.

Most of the fighting in this region has been along the Isonzo river with the Austrian row of mountains and peaks. The Austrians have been making a rapid progress at first, sweeping through small towns. But as they moved up the Isonzo toward Gorizia the mountain tops and batteries began the slow and tedious process of first gaining control of all the elevated positions which could be used by the Austrians before pressing forward on Gorizia and Triest.

Satisfaction Expressed.

The Italian commanders express satisfaction with the progress they have made in the last six months. All the fighting and all the progress, has been on Austrian soil and no Austrian troops have at any time entered Italy. The Austrians, on the other hand, have been taken by the Italians and from Grado, leading toward Triest, have been taken by the Austrians and from the lights of Triest can be seen at night across the Adriatic. Further progress has been made in the cost of whole regiments cut to pieces, and a chain of mountain tops, villages and stations has been established enclosing Gorizia. But Gorizia still holds out through its natural mountain defenses and its railway lines pouring in constant supplies of fresh troops and ammunition.

The matter of ammunition has proved a serious check on the Italians as it has on the other entente allies. The ammunition output has been increased but it is still far short of requirements, although supplies from America and Japan are beginning to fill the gap.

Quite distinct from the campaign around Gorizia is that in the other province of Trentino, further west. This has all been mountain fighting and little progress has been made. Through Trentino run innumerable spurs of the Trentina Alps, making a vast stretch of gorges and peaks. It is a mountainous country, but the Austrians have been making a rapid progress at first, sweeping through small towns. But as they moved up the Isonzo toward Gorizia the mountain tops and batteries began the slow and tedious process of first gaining control of all the elevated positions which could be used by the Austrians before pressing forward on Gorizia and Triest.

ASK SAFE CONDUCT FOR GENERAL VILLA

IN RETURN FOR IMMUNITY NEW CHIEF OF MOVEMENT WILL BE SELECTED.

Some of Followers Deny That Bandit Leader Has Retired from Fight.

El Paso, Dec. 19.—At a conference of United States military officers, state and city authorities and representatives of the Carranza and Villa governments, held here secretly today, it was requested by the Villa delegation that Gen. Francisco Villa and his brother, Hipolito, be permitted to cross the border unharmed by legal, criminal or civil action.

In return for the immunity of the Villa brothers, the Carranza government promised that a new chief would be selected to head the Villa movement and pledge the leader, when selected, and as yet unnamed, but believed to be Governor Avila, to turn over the entire military and civil organization of Villa-controlled territory to the Carranza government.

No word of denial of the report of his retirement from command of the convention forces opposing the Carranza government was received today from Gen. Francisco Villa. Rumors declared first that he was en route for Palomas, in western Chihuahua, and would cross the border at Columbus, N. M. It was also reported that he was on his way across the desert from Chihuahua to Ojinaga, opposite Presidio, Texas.

Miguel Diaz Lombardo, foreign minister in the Villa cabinet, who has made his headquarters in this city since his return from the Pan-American conference on peace in Mexico, declared today that General Villa had retired from the supreme command, but declared Villa would not cross the border. He declined to be more definite.

At the Carranza consulate it was said that important developments were expected by tomorrow.

AUSTRIAN TRAIN RUNS ON ROUGH ROADS AFTER LEAVING TRACKS

This train is the work of an Austrian inventive genius. The locomotive is a benzine eater generating its propelling power by the use of benzine. The real novelty in the equipment which is being used against the Italians in the large district is in the fact that both locomotive and trucks are equipped with a hybrid set of wheels which when they come to the end of the railroad line can still be used on any road regardless of its roughness. The wheels at the end of the broad tire with a groove in the center of the rim. The groove fits over the tracks when it is desired to use the railroad.

Sweden to Protest Against Stoppage of Parcel Post Service

By the Associated Press.

Berlin, Dec. 19.—By wireless to Stockholm—Sweden has decided to protest against the stoppage by British authorities in Karwall of the parcel post service between Sweden and the United States.

The Swedish government also has ordered all parcels post from England in transit across Sweden to be held up indefinitely. This means the complete stoppage of the Anglo-Russian parcel post service until the Swedish protest is heeded.

The Swedish government, according to information received here, will notify the United States of this new measure. The protest is based on the British action of taking sealed sacks of parcel post mail from the steamer Helligölv on her last voyage from New York and in removing the entire parcel post cargo from the outgoing steamer Stockholm.

It was stated at the British foreign office that out of 300 bags of parcel post for Sweden on board the Helligölv, 109 contained nothing except rubber consignments to a well known forwarding agent in Sweden. It was added that the parcel post parcels of mail carried by the steamer would be forwarded to their destination.

Blazing Whiskey Causes Trouble for Glasgow Firemer

By the Associated Press.

Frisco Chinese Against Monarchy

By the Associated Press.

San Francisco, Dec. 19.—Chinese from all parts of the state attended a mass meeting today in the Chinese quarter here to protest against the return of China to a monarchical form of government, and to arrange for the collection of funds to finance a revolution if Yuan Shi Kai should attempt to restore the monarchy.

Offers of financial support, it was announced at the meeting, had been received from all over the country, but the subscriptions list would not be open until later.

Tong King Chong, president of the China republic association, who presided at the meeting, said: "We are willing to permit Yuan Shi Kai to resign peacefully. If he does not do this, we will continue our fight for liberty and justice."

No answer had been received, it was announced, to the petition sent Dec. 14 to President Wilson asking that recognition of the new monarchy be withheld by the United States.

General Carranza by telegram reported that Villa's reported decision to leave Laredo has reached here today from the Carranza campaign in Chihuahua state, but officials in Nuevo Laredo expressed the belief that the battle will be staged at Chihuahua City, where the Villa garrison was reported last night as having refused to surrender to Carranza forces under General Jacinto B. Washington, D. While the agricultural co-operation in the United States is far more prevalent than is generally believed, the report says, it is not yet upon a sufficiently strong basis.

For this reason the office has studied the various methods employed and is endeavoring to aid in perfecting them.

Baseball Leagues Reported to Have Agreed on Terms

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—According to a man familiar with the negotiations, representatives of the Federal, National and American leagues signed a peace agreement at the New York meeting last night, but the agreement was not made public until this morning.

According to this authority, the agreement provides that the Federal league retain its players until the opening of the 1917 season, paying all salaries called for by contract and reimbursing its backers from the sale of players of organized ball. Another provision, it was said, was that the Wards of Brooklyn were to be reimbursed for their outlay in the Federal league by the American and National leagues. This stipulation previously had been announced.

According to the authority quoted above the meeting to hold at Cincinnati on Tuesday has only details to consider. Among these, it was said, was the disposition of the Baltimore Federal club, which is reported to desire a place in some organization. Other questions involving the minor leagues would be discussed, it was said.

According to the statement referred to, no mention was made in the peace agreement of the sale of any National or American league club to Federal league backers. It was said this was left to individual negotiations. It was here today, however, that Charles Veeghnan of the Chicago Federals and Harry Sinclair of the Newark Federals were certain to buy the Chicago National and that the St. Louis Federal league club owners were expected to negotiate for the purchase of the St. Louis Browns.

Of the ball players included in the Federal league roster, seventy, it is said, are under "contract" with the league, and a year or more. The combined salaries called for by their contracts amount to more than $1,000,000 a year.

Some of the Federal league owners, it was said, were inclined to balk at the "peace" agreement was signed, but met here today, however, the Chicago National and that the St. Louis Federal league club owners were expected to negotiate for the purchase of the St. Louis Browns.

Fy Cobb's Record for Last Five Years Best in Baseball

By the Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 19.—The American league batting averages for the season of 1915 again show Fy Cobb leading the league organization stick welders, as he has done for the past eight or nine years. The Georgia star increased his average two points over his record of .351, but fell short of the figures made during the seasons of 1911 and 1915.

The leader's average since 1911, together with the average of the five best batters who figured in 100 or more games are as follows:

1911. Cobb .420 Jackson .395 Crawford .378 Collins .365 LaJole .365

1912. Cobb .410 Jackson .395 Speaker .383 LaJole .368 Collins .348

1913. Cobb .390 Jackson .373 Speaker .365 Collins .345 Baker .336

1914. Cobb .368 Collins .344 Speaker .338 Jackson .319 Hoblitzell .319

1915. Cobb .370 Collins .352 Speaker .332 McInnis .314 Veach .313

Gilmore Doble, coach of the University of Washington football team, who eight years ago led the team to a national championship, was not named by a single defeat, would be an acceptable head to the coaching staff of several eastern and middle western colleges. The intersection of games this autumn have drawn more to the campus of the Atlantic coast and the middle west.

Having selected all-Eastern, all-Western, all-Southern and all-American football eleven, the critics are now turning their attention to similar activities in other branches of sport. A recent unofficial golf ranking places Jerome D. Travis first, Francis Guinet second and Robert Gardner third.

Officers of the National Tennis association are highly gratified with the financial report of the year, including its net profits of almost $16,000 for the first national tennis championship tournament held outside the Casino courts of Newport. Now that the stands used for the Davis cup matches of 1914 and the titular tourney this season are entirely paid for, the net gate receipts at the 1916 championships should establish a new record if the contests are held in New York, Chicago or Philadelphia.

An all-American track and field team for the season of 1915 shows that the twenty positions on the team are divided among the athletes named in the following sectional proportions: East, eleven places; middle, four places; Pacific coast, five places.

The rise of William M. Johnston to the topmost ranking among American tennis players has been a little short of phenomenal. The national champion's name was not found in the list of the first ten players four years ago. Johnston gained his first brackets at the end of the 1913 season, when he was placed fourth, with McLaughlin, Williams and Clothier ranked ahead of him.

Last year Johnston dropped to sixth, Behr and Murray being ranked in front of the Californian in addition to those who led him the previous season. His feat in leaping to the top of the list this year was due almost entirely to Johnston's phenomenal play in the national championship tournament. Since this tourney is the supreme test of the tennis season there can be little, if any, grounds for fault-finding with the decision of the ranking committee.

Backfield football players still hold their ascendancy when it comes to selecting captains for the gridiron machines. Out of thirty-one leaders elected to head the big college teams of next fall, eighteen have been named from men who have won their varsity letters while playing behind the scrimmage line.

unless the peace pilgrims composed their differences of opinion regarding President Wilson's preparedness policy, it would cause disaster to the expedition. He declared American preparedness was necessary and was not related to the peace efforts.

The Rev. Charles F. Aked, pastor of the First Congregational church of San Francisco, maintained it was ridiculous for Americans to urge peace abroad while preparing for war at home.

Invasion of Egypt Being Contemplated by Von der Goltz

By the Associated Press.

London, Dec. 19.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam says:

"It is reported that the field marshal, Von der Goltz, commander in chief of the first Turkish army, is establishing his headquarters at Aleppo, Syria, where the Turkish and German troops under his command are being equipped for an invasion of Egypt. Emperor William and the sultan of Turkey have sent Field Marshal von der Goltz messages of good will in which the hope is expressed that his career will soon be crowned with a crushing defeat of the entente allies.

"Field Marshal von der Goltz's force consists partly of the Constantinople army corps, which is under German officers. The soldiers are armed with Krupp rifles.

"Several large corps of German professors are going to Turkey under a three-year contract to teach the German language."

VENETIAN CHURCH WRECKED BY BOMB

AUSTRIAN MONOPLANE IN RAID
OVER ITALY DESTROYS HISTORIC STRUCTURE.

Wonderful Frescoes of Tiepolo Are Dumped in Masses of Debris on Pavement.

Venice, Italy, Dec. 19.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—An opportunity to see the destructive effects of the bomb raids on Venice was given today to the Associated Press, when an inspection under official escort was made of the havoc and ruin in the famous old church of the Scalzi, one of the art monuments of the world, now a wreck with its roof blown off, its massive walls tottering, and the famous ceiling fresco by Tiepolo, valued at a million francs, lying in heaps of rubbish in the ruins of the building. There have been three bomb raids on Venice, but the last was the worst, and the historic church bore the full brunt of it.

Approaching the massive edifice, one sees a gaping hole in the roof, extending from front to rear. The facade, fronting the Grand Canal, is intact, and three sculptured figures standing along the cornice remain untouched. But back of the figures the roof sags away in a curved line downward and then up again to the rear wall, as though some giant hand had reached down and torn out the whole top of the church, leaving only the front and the rickety side walls still intact. Workmen can be seen high above beginning the work of salvage and repair, and heavy timbers are being laced across the gaping hole left by the bomb.

Entering the historic church, a scene of havoc and ruin is presented—twisted beams and arches, panels and columns of alabaster crushed into bits and lying around in heaps, the richly carved pulpit blown to pieces, with only a faint outline of its former wonders remaining, and above, the roof wide open to the sky, with the wonderful frescoes of Tiepolo dumped in huge masses of debris on the stone pavement. Faint edges of the grand old frescoes still cling to the side walls, giving some idea of the beauties of the work torn away. Six enormous arches spanned the edifice, meeting in the middle, and giving an intervening space of three frescoes. Not a vestige remains of the main subjects, the visit of the Virgin to Loretto, containing hundreds of biblical and allegorical figures, the rugged edges showing only cloud effects and the background with a few figures. The high altar, with spiral alabaster columns and rich decorations, is not touched, and another curious feature is that the electric candles circling the church are undisturbed, the electric bulbs shining as brightly as ever. But with these two exceptions—the high altar far in the rear, and the electric candles—everything is a ruin. Frescoed ceiling, inlaid marble sidewalls, sculptures, confessionals, memorial tablets, baptistry and marble mosaic pavement—all lying about in fragments.

It was about 11 o'clock in the morning when the explosion occurred. This was the busy hour, when the gondolas were crowding the Grand Canal, and the Venetians were shopping and marketing. Suddenly a single monoplane was seen in the northern sky, coming from the direction of the Austrian frontier.

It was flying very high—about 2500 meters. People at first did not recognize this speck as an enemy bent on destruction. Soon, however, the steam siren at the arsenal gave a long wail—the signal of warning—and the people scattered to cellars and any available cover. The aeroplane was now in full view, heading straight for the big railway station in Venice, the center of a network of railway connections. Just above the station the aeroplane began to circle round and round. Clearly it was about to bomb the station. But at 2500 meters height the aim is not good, and besides there was mist, adding to the difficulties of a sure shot. Down came the bomb—people could see it fall—but instead of the station it struck square on top of the famous old church. It did not explode immediately as it struck the roof. Instead it made a clean hole through the roof, and then, shooting downwards, exploded just above and in front of the pulpit.

This instant explosion is what caused the terrible destruction, as besides the flying fragments of the bomb and its shrapnel contents, the sudden expansion of air in the confined interior of the church literally lifted the roof from the supporting walls and blew it skyward. One side of the roof was bent over to the right, the other to the left, beams and arches crashing upward and over, while masses of debris settled down between the walls. The frescoed ceiling had disappeared in an instant. Particles of the bomb dug deep into the alabaster facing the walls, cracking and wrenching the marble pillars and sidewalls from floor to roof. Even the marble floor, made of huge slabs of marble, was torn up in chunks. One huge slab of the floor covered the tomb of some of the famous Venetians of olden days, and this was wrenched out, exposing the tomb below. The explosion occurred when the church was deserted, so that no loss of life resulted.

To the art world the damage to the famous old church is an irreparable loss. Everywhere it was known as the type of the Venetian baroque style, and next to the chapel of Santa Maria was the best example of this style in the world. The fresco was by Tiepolo, covering the entire ceiling, and was, of course, the greatest loss, as next to Titian, Tintoretto and Paul Veronese, Tiepolo was accepted as the greatest of descriptive painters, and the last of the older school of famous Venetian masters. The destroyed fresco was his most representative work, and probably the largest. After nearly 300 years the painting was in an excellent state of preservation, the vividness of the coloring and the great number of figures in the colossal work—nearly 100 feet across—giving it a special interest and value to the art world.

Only by chance, too, is it Tiepolo's work that is destroyed instead of Titian's or Tintoretto's, for these masters are similarly represented on the ceilings and walls of many of the churches and historic monuments of Venice, and while paintings can be removed to places of safety, the frescoed ceilings must stay to take the chance of bombs. Ruskin in his Stones of Venice, says Titian and Paul Veronese can be judged only by the ceilings of Venice. The sculptures and carvings of the high altar are by another Venetian master, Pozzo, but these escaped serious damage.

Besides the destruction of the Scalzi church, the chief effect of the bomb raids has been near the arsenal. It is clear that the chief purpose of the raids is to reach the arsenal and the railway station, the former being the

Revolt Is Feared of Poorer Classes in German Capital

By the Associated Press.

London, Dec. 19.—Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent says: "Life in the poorer quarters of the German capital is described as pitiful by the German-born wife of an English laborer residing in Berlin who, after sixteen months' internment, has arrived at Flushing, Holland, on her way to England, according to the correspondent of the Amsterdam Telegraph."

"The German authorities," the Telegraph correspondent quotes the woman as saying, "are in great fear of a revolt owing to the discontent of the people. Several riots occurred in which shops were plundered. Mounted police charged the crowds, which were composed mainly of women. Misery among the working class is considerable and is increasing daily."

"The woman's story is somewhat confirmed," says the Reuter dispatch, "by a letter from the Berlin correspondent of the Handelsblad, who declares that the shops literally were stormed by large crowds who were after their daily allowance of butter, which was only about a quarter of a pound per family. Provisions shops were guarded by the police to prevent disturbances."

Greek Election Takes Place Today

By the Associated Press.
Paris, Dec. 19.—"Two hundred thousand out of a total of 700,000 voters in Greece are now mobilized and will be unable to take part in the election tomorrow (Sunday), says a dispatch from Athens December 18 by the Havas correspondent."

"The liberals, or Venizelos, who carried 185 seats out of the 260 in the chamber of deputies at the last election, also will be absent from the polls almost unanimously, according to the best indications."

"The government, however, is urging all its partisans to vote."

streets and ridding the houses, but not causing much loss of life. The canals are everywhere, and many of the bombs have fallen into the water.

The nearest approach to the famous Campanile and Doges' Palace was a bomb which fell midway between the column bearing the winged lion of San Marco and the column of San Theodoro, both on the Piazza San Marco, but this bomb did not explode. Another bomb fell in the Grand Canal just in front of the Doges' Palace. Both of these bombs, which fortunately were harmless, fell within a hundred yards of the most famous monuments in Europe.

"The Lily and the Rose."

There are some intensely tragic moments in the new Triangle play, "The Lily and the Rose," showing at the Hippodrome today. However, this intensity is thrilling and is saved from being excessive by a lightening of the perspective in the end. Lillian Gish stars as the Lily, and her portrayal is convincing as the young, pure-hearted girl brought up apart from the rude hurly-burly world. Wilfred Lucas is the husband, who has been a man about town prior to his marriage and who becomes tired of matrimonial bonds and seeks solace in the exciting society of a daring stage dancer, Rozsika Dolly.

Miss Gish is effective in displaying the gradual maturing of the young girl into a woman who sees the intense passion that drives her husband to neglect her and fix his attention on the shallow natured dancer. She becomes gradually reconciled to her role of discarded wife when her baby comes and she lavishes upon it all the affection that otherwise her husband might have claimed.

Miss Dolly exhibits the opposite of Miss Gish. She is the Rose, whose ferid and loud charms appeal to the rather coarse grained man of the world as shown by Lucas. The secret of Lucas' aberration is not so difficult of solution when the part of siren is played with the ability and charm displayed by Miss Dolly, though she is faithful to the idea of superficiality and errancy of heart that characterize the play. Her dancing on the sands is thrilling and picturesque.

The play offers one of the most absorbing stories recently seen in the films, and it is predicted that it will have extraordinary popularity wherever it is presented. It will be shown at the Hippodrome today only.

AUDITORIUM.

"The New Henrietta."

The forthcoming performance of Bronson Howard's exhilarating comedy, "The Henrietta," with the added title, "New," at the Auditorium tonight brings to mind pleasant thoughts of another occasion many years ago. Robson and Crane were then the toast of the country, and their new play of American life had caught on, as the saying goes, "like a prairie fire." Genial "Billy" Crane had found a part to fit him like wax, and eccentric "Rob" was in the seventh heaven of satisfaction with his role. Joseph Brooks, their manager, was glorified friends and writers, for his discernment in arranging for so good a play and so befitting a company. Bronson Howard had already found favor and profit by way of his drama, "The Banker's Daughter," but his real embarrassment of riches came with the advent of "The Henrietta."

The human story told by human actors shook and kneaded us as if it were by the hand of life itself. The trials and romance of the old stock jangler, the evolution of his pin-headed son from a Darwinian example to a man of spine and judgment, the oily parson's skillful admixture of temporal and spiritual life, the round cheeked and full chested widow's coquetry with fate and an appetite that might be described earthily; and the sunny weaving of Cupid's plan for dainty, trustful, fragrant Agnes Gates—these were the vital figures in the author's pattern of play, and all were interpreted by actors who realized the intention of the dramatist with the conviction of truth. The logic of this conjunction of a great dramatist with unusual players was an impression that stands out above all other early experiences with the theatre.

"The New Henrietta," now touring under the direction of Joseph Brooks—the original producer—is meeting with even greater success, and the critics of serious mind and wide comparison accord it this fact to the admirably fitting cast of famous stars. William H. Crane is again the Wall Street king who gives substance to time. Here is an invitation to the particular in plays and players, which is sure to be embraced with zest.

"High Jinks."

"High Jinks," the musical jollity which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Auditorium matinee and night, Tuesday, December 21st, is the joint production of two men whose names are already eminent in the field of stage entertainment, and who are credited with reaching their respective climaxes in the musical comedy, which ran for a whole season at the Casino in New York. Otto Hauerbach, responsible for "Three Twins" and "Madame Sherry," furnished the book and lyrics, and Rudolf Friml, composer of "The Firefly," supplied the musical score. Among the musical numbers that have become highly popular with the orchestra and in the dance halls are "Something Seems Tingle," "Jim," "Love's Own Kiss," "I'm Through With Roaming Romeo," "Chi Chi," "Not Now, But Later," "Come Hither Eyes" and "I Know Your Husband Very Well." A chorus of pretty and richly gowned girls rounds out a company which includes some of the best known entertainers on the American stage.

Granger Schools Close for Christmas

Special to the Morning News.

Granger, Dec. 19.—School closed Friday for the holidays, to reopen on January 4, 1916. All of the teachers, or at least the majority, have departed for their respective homes.

It is reported that all of the churches will have Christmas trees. Santa Claus has already appeared here. All of Granger seems to be preparing to have a grand, good time on the 25th.

Judging from the number of new automobiles on the streets, one would think that "Father Hard Times" had left Granger for good. Three of the public school teachers, Miss Hortense Rast, J. D. Chalk and Miss Nannie Murs, will spend the holidays at their homes in Waco.

J. E. Reynolds and J. F. Martinets & Co., conducting general merchandise stores in Granger, will combine on January 1. Both firms have been in Granger for several years and, although both firms have been enjoying a good trade, they hope by consolidating to better serve the trade. The new firm will be known as Reynolds-Martinets Co.

NEW ORLEANS WEEKLY LETTER.

The Associated Press.

New Orleans, Dec. 19.—The local cotton market was held at the decline throughout last week, prices at the highest standing two or three points under the close of the preceding week, while at the lowest they were 47 to 50 points under. The net result of the week's trading was a loss of 30 to 32 points.

Heavy selling pressure was in evidence nearly every session of the week, and it was generally accepted that bear traders were leading in the selling. Considerable liquidation of long cotton was forced, brokers reporting the reaching of top loss orders frequently, especially toward the end of the week.

Bulls still made much of the government's crop estimate from the highest a week ago Friday, the day of the estimate, to the lowest levels last Friday there was decrease of almost $5 a bale, March falling from 12.81 to 11.89.

Bear operations were stimulated by the international political situation. Whatever steadiness the market had was derived from the firmness of spot holders. The interior reported only small trading in the actual staple, with holders indifferent and unwilling to consider prices except when they were well above board quotations. This week the market will open with a census bureau report on ginning, which bulls think will fully confirm the recent crop estimate. Expectations on the bull side range from 10,300,000 to 10,400,000 bales as the total to be returned. Bears have commented little on this pending report, although they contend the government's figures on the yield are far too low.
